USUAL FORMATION WAS NOT THERE

Storm Came Without Any Warning Whatever---The Funnel Shaped Cloud Caught
People Up.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.] Snyder, Okla., May 12.—The streets are gradually being cleared of wreckage and order restored. All the dead are placed in new caskets and arrangements are under way for a general funeral. The injured are being removed to Lawton and Oklahoma City. The relief committee met today to make plans for the distribution of supplies and cash which have been contributed. The citizens have taken heart and expressed the determination to rebuild the town. The storm formed south of Olathe, near the Texas line, and took a northeasterly course through a well-settled section. At 5 o'clock it was observed by the people of Snyder, but the usual funnel-shaped formation was lacking, and though the roar was plainly heard for some time before the storm broke, many were of the opinion that it was a hail storm. Within a few minutes the sky became suddenly dark and a terrific down-pour of rain began, lasting for several minutes, when it stopped almost as suddenly as it had commenced. A few moments after an ominous calm followed, and then the tornado struck, tearing buildings to pieces as though they were made of paper.

Hurled People in Air.
Many people who had thought to take advantage of the calm to seek refuge in cellars were caught in the streets and between buildings, where some were lifted high in the air and dashed to the ground as though hurled from a catapult, while others were struck by flying debris and beaten almost beyond recognition. Those who remained in their houses fared no better in the path of the tornado, which swept across all excepting a few blocks in the southeastern corner of the town. The frame structures collapsed like egg shells, burying occupants under the debris, killing, crushing and maiming. Six of the eight hotels were torn to pieces, burying many in the wreckage. North of the railroad track, where many cottages stood, none is left, and there the wreckage is mostly carried away. In a few moments it was all over and the air was filled with shrieks of injured, mingled with cries of those who had escaped and were seeking lost ones.

Vandals Rob the Dead.
Then followed a night of terror, never to be forgotten by those who passed through it. Husbands, wives and children screamed on the streets in search of relatives. The entire uninjured population turned out to assist in removing the debris and res-

LEGISLATURE WASTES NO TIME AS TO LEGISLATION

Work Is Being Rushed...Bills Are Now Being Pushed Through For Final Passage.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., May 12.—The assembly, finishing its week's work last night, took a rap at the professional lobby, advanced the Ainsworth uniform school textbook bill and laid the revised Thayer residence district option bill over until next week.

The Lobby.
Assemblyman Turner introduced a resolution, which was adopted, requiring that diverse persons were present in chamber and corridor, importuning members for or against proposed legislation without complying with the lobby register law and otherwise violating the regulations contained in the statutes concerning legislative assistants and attorneys. A committee of five was appointed by the speaker and it immediately after the session commenced the work of investigation. It is said that a number of warrants will be issued.

The Thayer Bill.
The revised Thayer bill provides that upon petition special elections may be had in residence districts to determine whether or not licenses shall be granted for saloons therein. The brewery interests are still fighting the measure, although it is much less objectionable than the original bill which provided that upon the signed remonstrance of a majority of the residents of a particularly designated district the common council could not grant a saloon license in that district.

Textbook Bill.
The uniform textbook bill provides for a commission to investigate books, receive bills for which publishers will supply them and then establish textbooks that shall not be changed more frequently than once in five years.

The Committee on Claims.
The committee on claims listened to Senator McGillivray yesterday afternoon. He violently arraigned the capitol building commission, charging that no idea of economy of fitness was followed in the competition that led to the choice of Cass Gilbert as the architect and declaring: "Why gentlemen, this commission would steal Jesus Christ from the cross and throw the cross into the river."

Ignore McGillivray.
He was answered fully by Speaker Lenroot, who charitably passed over the violent language of Senator McGillivray and argued for a new capitol to cost complete not more than $2,300,000.

Charles Landert, aged 45 years, committed suicide at Naperville, Ill., by drinking Paris green. Intended divorce proceedings are said to have been the cause.

cuing bodies." This was not concluded before noon Thursday. In an hour after the storm had passed ruthless robbers were stealing into the dark and relieving the dead of money and valuables. One wounded man was relieved of $300 in money and some jewelry was taken. A special police force of fifty men was afterward summoned and they stood guard at various points of the town. They were given instructions to shoot any person found looting.

Building Split in Two.
The cause of the scream was the destruction of the Snyder telephone building, which was a long, narrow wood building, and which was split half in two by the wind, the break occurring where the switchboard was fastened to the wall. As the wind whipped off the front end of this building a heavy piece of wood was driven into the side of the head of the manager, who was sitting at his desk.

The operator, taking in the situation, gave a scream, which was heard over the telephone at Hobart. A young man, who was in the exchange at the time grabbed the operator and fairly flung her into a glass booth nearby and slammed the door. The glass in the booth was not even cracked. The telegraph and telephone wires went down with the storm, and for several hours no word of the disaster reached the outside world. A telephone operator walked through the darkness and the storm to Mountain Grove, a neighboring village, and from there telephoned bare facts of the disaster. He was unable to give any details except to say that hundreds of persons were dead.

Debris Fills the Streets.
The first man to reach Snyder and return to a telegraph point was the station agent at Mountain Park. He had walked into Snyder, reaching there at daylight, and after taking a hasty view of the situation and without gathering any exact details of the storm's effects, returned to Mountain Park.

Every man and woman who escaped has a story to relate of escape, death, and destruction, while floods of tears flowed down their cheeks. Some mothers lost babes and others husbands and sons.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.] Madison, Wis., May 12.—The legislature is idle today, there being many absentees and the members present are hastening away for over-Sunday visits at home. The railroad rate commission bill was on the calendar of the senate for ordering to engrossment, but the entire calendar was laid over until Tuesday. A new bill was reported by the senate committee on judiciary to make clear the law that there need be no popular vote on the issue of municipal bonds for the purpose of replacing old bonds or existing indebtedness. SIXTH WEEK OF A BIG STRIKE

Little Changes In The Status Quo Of The Chicago Teamsters' Troubles.

ROOSEVELT AND BIG STICK TALK

Several Persons Injured In Riots Throughout The City
Last Evening—More Teams Are Out
This Morning.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.] Chicago, Ill., May 12.—Despite the theories of high officials that the backbone of the great teamsters strike was broken, this morning ushered in the sixth week of the strike and but little change in the standing of both the strikers and employers. It would now appear to be merely a question of endurance and both sides have settled down to a fight to the bitter end.

Much Violence.
Thus far there have been seven deaths resulting directly from the strike and scores of persons badly injured and maimed for life. It has been one of the most violent and stubbornly contested contests in the annals of Chicago history. It is now "an endurance contest" as both employers and labor leaders declare. The duration of the controversy depends upon the staying powers of the other side.

That Big Stick.
The employers are jubilant over the display of the President's "big stick" which they feel certain will have a salutary effect in curbing violence, and are preceding with the delivery of goods with non-union drivers on a more extensive scale than ever today.

Hearing Taking Place.
The hearing of testimony in support of the eight injunctive orders before Master of Chancery Sherman, was continued this morning. Much interest centers in this hearing and if the injunctions are sustained it will do much to keep the employers in line for the bitter struggle that is bound to follow before the strike is settled.

Several Assaults.
Charles Johnson, a union teamster, was mistaken at midnight last night for a strike breaker and set upon by a crowd at 24th and Wentworth, and badly beaten. One eye was knocked entirely out. John Bernard, a union teamster was also shot in the hand and thigh last evening by a man supposed to be a strike-breaker in a department store. Bernard was a strike picket.

Many Deputies.
Twenty-one hundred police and deputies went on duty today, guarding nearly two thousand wagons. It is feared that the bright weather of today will encourage the strikers to resume disorderly demonstrations.

Nan, accompanied by her father, went to the office of Counselor Levy. She will start for her home in Washington tomorrow.

IN AND AROUND CRESCENT CITY

JANESVILLE PARTY ON EXCURSION FROM NEW ORLEANS.

TRIP TO LAKE PAUCHATRAIN

Up the Romantic Watercourses and by the Croche Cities and Sawmills.

(By H. H. B.) There are a number of pleasant trips out of New Orleans during the spring and summer, one of them being to Lake Pouchatrain which is a rather shallow body of water nearly round and about 20 miles in diameter, in reality a part of the Gulf of Mexico, being connected with it by a river which reaches the Gulf at Bay St. Louis, Miss. Lake Pouchatrain was used in the early days when New Orleans was first settled as an entrance to the city, the Mississippi river entrance from the Gulf not being discovered until later. One takes a steamer upon arrival at Pouchatrain and crosses the lake to Mandeville and several other small towns and thence up the beautiful Ichfunda river, a winding glorious stream up which the boat twists and turns some twenty miles, making various river towns and sawmill landings. There are great numbers of mills all through this country. On one line of the lake are little over one hundred miles long are one hundred and fifty saw mills. The timber is being cut about as fast as in Wisconsin and can't last many more years in this section. The steamer stopped at Mandeville, a little old-time river town, and the entire colored population was at the landing dressed in its best. The sight was beautiful, the bank lined with the enormous old live oaks, of which there are so many all through this country and the little town with its old buildings each with its galleries; every living house of more than one story has gallery or porch accessible from most every window down here.

The ride up the Ichfunda River is one never to be forgotten, its beautiful wooded shores and the little bayous extending back every now and then suggest fishing and hunting, such as the story books of the South are fond of dwelling upon.

We were told that game and fish were plentiful here and certainly a more ideal place for the poet could not be imagined. This ride on the water consumed an entire day, the boat only stopping long enough to turn around before the return trip was begun.

In crossing Lake Pouchatrain we were out of sight of land and when about in the middle a storm came up, luckily without wind, as the side-wheel steamer which we were on was rather ancient and might not have weathered any too well. We were in better circumstances on the boat than when we reached land, however, as only half enough cars had been provided to convey the passengers back to New Orleans and these already crowded with people. The crowds surged into the cars, nevertheless, that is, they tried to and most of them hung on the platforms through a pouring rain, back to the city. Women and children were jammed in like sardines and drenched to the skin. No system to the operation. How a serious accident was averted is merely a matter of luck.

FAIR WEATHER CAME AFTER THE STORM

Thunder Squalls, However, Are Predicted for Today and Saturday—Warmer Wave.

Washington, D. C.—The disturbance central Wednesday evening in western Kansas has advanced northward to Minnesota and increased somewhat in intensity. This depression has been attended by heavy rains and severe thunder squalls in the middle Mississippi valley, the Ohio valley, and the southern portion of the lake region. The rain in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois has been especially heavy, the amounts ranging from one to two inches in the last twelve hours. There has been a general fall in temperature in the Mississippi valley north of Missouri; also over Kansas and eastern Nebraska. Showers and thunderstorms are indicated for Friday in the upper Ohio valley, the lake region and Middle Atlantic states. The temperature will rise in the Mississippi and the Missouri valleys. The winds will be on the lower, lakes brisk southeast to south, with thunder squalls, and on the upper lakes mostly brisk east to south, with thunder squalls. Forecast for Friday and Saturday in lower Michigan, upper Michigan and Wisconsin—Showers and thunderstorms Friday; Saturday fair, variable winds becoming fresh westerly.

CATARRHAL TROUBLES PREVALENT.

Spring Months Cause Catarrh. Breathe Hyomel, and Be Cured. Catarrhal troubles are more common at this season than at any other time of the year. The sudden changes that come during the spring months are productive of many cases of catarrh that without proper treatment will become chronic. The pleasantest, most convenient, and only scientific treatment for the treatment and cure of catarrh, is Hyomel. Simply put twenty drops in the little pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, and then breathe it for three minutes four times a day.

The complete Hyomel outfit costs but one dollar, and as the inhaler will last a lifetime and there is sufficient Hyomel for several weeks' treatment, it is the most economical catarrhal remedy known. Extra bottles can be procured for fifty cents. Ask the Peoples' Drug Company to show you the strong guarantee under which they sell Hyomel.

ARE ATHLETES PAID AT THE UNIVERSITY

This is a Burning Question in the Athletic Circles Just at Present.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Madison, Wis.—"No athlete can represent the University of Wisconsin in any intercollegiate contest or upon any university team unless the books of the graduate manager show that he owes no back board bill to the athletic association."

This is the firm declaration of Faculty Supervisor Slichter, who is determined to enforce his ruling even to the point of driving star athletes away from the university. Graduate Manager George F. Downer is trying to collect about $1,000 of old board bills from Wisconsin athletes and is assisted by the announcement of the faculty supervisor of athletics. The result is that already some athletes have left the university and others declare that they will "not stand to be held up by Slichter and Downer." Richard Rupp, the big center rush of the Badger football team, is one who is hit hard by the demand. He recently announced his intention to leave because of a difference of opinion with Coach Phil King as to the proper manner of passing the ball, but was persuaded to remain. He is literally as "mad as a hornet." He declares that there never was any understanding that the board at the university training table should be paid for and that it was in fact the understanding that certain athletes were to have their board for the work they did on the athletic teams. He declares that he will never pay. He declares that Perry, fullback on the football team and a leading player on the baseball nine, left the university a month ago because a bill was presented to him for board at the training table. Jack O'Brien, guard on the football team, says he is willing to pay a fair rate for board, but that the bill he was called upon to settle called for $10 and that he was at the training table for less than three weeks. He says the understanding was that he would not have to pay and that he cannot afford to be taxed for such "high living as the bill would indicate." This matter has caused a distinct sensation here and opens up the matter which has been hinted at for years, that Wisconsin athletes were virtually paid for their work on the teams.

NAMES CONFUSED AS REGARDS GUN CLUBS

The Janesville Gun Club Is Not to Affiliates with Beloit—Next Match.

"Owing to confusion in the fact that there are now two gun clubs in Janesville, the general public have become confused and think that the Janesville Gun club are planning to establish a new park near Beloit and abandon their old grounds at the Athletic field," said Jack McVicar this morning. "The Janesville Gun club will remain at its old grounds and continue its monthly shoots. I know nothing of the plan to affiliate with Beloit men for a new park," he continued. The next match of the local club will be held on Thursday, May 18, instead of Friday, the 19th, as is usual, owing to the fact that the final contest for the Peters loving cup is to be shot off at Monroe on Friday, the 19th, and members of the local club hope to bring this trophy home with them. This cup has been won by the following teams: Janesville, Albany, Broadhead, Monroe and Darlington, and the winning team this time will be the absolute owner. Aside from this there are six events for high average, which carries with it the Peters golf medal and the league member making the highest average in the sixth event, for twenty birds, wins the Lefevre cup. Even more serious is a handicap match for an L. C. Smith hammerless gun, one man from each club being allowed to shoot. The shoot is held under the auspices of the Southern Wisconsin Trapshooters' league.

BOYS' CLUB HAD ANOTHER SCARE

Street Car Ran Over Six Giant Cans and Young Men Thought It Night Prowler Unloading Revolver.

Boys club had had last night at eight o'clock an individual supposed to have been the same night prowler who attacked Doane Wright Tuesday evening, is reported to have approached the boys' clubhouse on George McKee's premises and to have frightened the young men by firing six shots. Mr. McKee was soon on the scene and after a hasty search, notified the police. No trace of the visitor could be found. Unless in this instance it was somebody trying to play a practical joke, the matter is getting to be very serious.

It developed this morning that a street car ran over six giant-cans on the tracks in that vicinity about the time the shooting was supposed to have occurred.

Labor Notes

The Chicago Federation of Labor is planning for a great child labor demonstration for the Fourth of July, when all the juvenile toilers in the city, 20,000 in number, will be invited to march through the streets, bearing banners announcing their tasks.

An eight-hour day may be among the demands to be made by the mine-workers of the anthracite region upon the expiration of the period covered by the award of the strike commission in 1906.

Jan labor in Colorado earns 75 cents per day, and lives on 12 cents; American labor earns $2.50 and lives on $2.

Mining and industrial circles generally in Great Britain are intensely watching a cooperative experiment which is being tried in slate quarrying in the neighborhood of Lord Penrhyn's famous quarries in Wales. So universal is the interest in this undertaking that the necessary working capital has been provided by the labor organizations of the entire country. They have already subscribed $126,529, which sum it is expected will soon be increased.

Organized into an alliance, each individual under surety bond of from $500 to $5,000 not to act counter to the Citizen's Alliance, the employers of labor in San Francisco are preparing to make a fight against the union shop.

For the first time since the organization was founded, members of Local 56, of the Journeymen Tailors' union, have agreed upon a uniform scale, which has been accepted by the leading merchant tailors of Philadelphia.

The Cigar-makers' International union, by a referendum vote, has decided not to establish a health farm for sufferers from tuberculosis.

The plan suggested for a settlement of the jurisdiction dispute between the granite-cutters, stone-masons, brick-layers and soft stone-cutters, at Philadelphia, is that the national officers of the unions in these trades shall meet and decide finally on the limitation and jurisdiction of each trade.

The average number of salaried officials and clerks employed by the street railway companies of the United States in 1902 was 7,128, and the average number of wage-earners was 132,611.

Several hundred cap-makers who went on strike three months ago against the "open shop" in all the factories of the New York Cap Manufacturers' association have returned to work, having settled with their employers and gained recognition of the union.

Returns relating to about 570,000 members of British trade-unions show that the mean percentage of members unemployed at the end of each month of 1904 was 6.5, compared with 5.1 in the previous year. The figure for 1904 is the highest percentage since 1894, when the proportion was 6.9 per cent, while in 1893 it was 7.5 per cent.

Although the railroad men's strike on the section of the Siberian line east of Lake Baikal has ended, the telegraph operators have now stopped work, demanding an increase in wages.

MODERN AND PROGRESSIVE.

The New Forepaugh-Sells Circus Is Far Ahead of Its Competitors.

Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Troupe's Greatest Shows, which will exhibit in Janesville May 30, has been enlarged upon such a broad scale of liberality as to almost preclude the depiction of its real magnitude on paper. Forepaugh and Sells Brothers, always modern and progressive, have had for years the biggest and best show on earth, yet this season they have more than doubled their immense amusement enterprise by the addition of complete new trains, hundreds of horses and people, and by entire new shows. The crowning feature of these almost unlimited additions is the grand spectacular and pantomimic production, "Panama, or the Portals of the Sea," in which is shown ten hundred characters, and a special tableau of magnificent costumes and special scenery. This spectacle is shown in the largest tent ever made for a circus—a vast canvas theatre, arena and aerial enclosure, brilliantly lighted, and accommodating 12,000 people. The monster free-swinging parade, a glittering pageant full of three miles in length, is alone worth the amount charged for the circus proper. It is replete with new and novel professional attractions, displaying beautifully carved and decorated floats, representative of every country on the globe, richly attired horsemen from every known nation and monster herds of elephants and camels, with a division for the children, and a full hundred cages of the rarest wild animals known to zoologists. In the arena performance Forepaugh and Sells Brothers introduce 375 performers, each one a premier artist. There are more than 200 acts in the circus program and most of the acts are exclusively novel and sensational. In the trained animal display Forepaugh and Sells present three herds of huge elephant actors, squadrons of cute little ponies in acts that never fail to please the children. Captain Webb's wonderful performing seals, and cake-walking and high school horses in exhibitions of the highest type of equine intelligence and marvelous new conceptions. The circus performance is given on two stages, in three rings and on a wide quadrangle hippodrome track. These wonderful shows will exhibit here one day only, and give performances at two o'clock and eight o'clock. Admission tickets and reserved numbered chairs will be sold at Forepaugh and Sells' downtown ticket office People's Drug Co. circus day at exactly the same price charged in the ticket wagon on the show grounds.

TALK FOR THE OPEN SHOP THIS EVENING

High School Debating Team Goes to the City of Mineral Water Fame Today.

Instructor A. H. Bartlett, Orville Swift, Paul Porter and Jerome Davis, the Janesville high school debating team, accompanied by a few supporters, left this morning for Waukesha, where, this evening they will meet on the forensics platform the high school debating trio of that city. The topic under discussion is stated: "Is the closed shop policy as advocated by the trades' unions justifiable? The closed-shop policy to mean the demand of a trade union that the employer agree to employ only union men as workers in that trade or those trades under the jurisdiction of that union." The negative arguments, which are to be presented by Janesville, will be opened by Orville Swift, continued by Paul Porter and closed and the rebuttal given by Jerome Davis. The latter commenced work on the debate but less than a week ago, it being thought up at that time that Harvey Bailey, selected leader of the team early in the season, would be able to take part. Mr. Davis' work has been hard and his ability as a speaker will be tested to Janesville. The three addresses were delivered before about fifty boys at the regular meeting of the High School last night, which was in the way of a rehearsal for the team. The first speech outlines the policy of the negative side and takes up a number of points; the second discussion reinforces the first and details a number of arguments mentioned briefly in the opening, while the third continues the more minute arguing, sums up the points of the negative and allows a few minutes of the sixty allotted each side, for rebutting points which may be brought up by Waukesha, other than those already touched upon sufficiently or thoroughly discussed in the regular speeches.

The plan suggested for a settlement of the jurisdiction dispute between the granite-cutters, stone-masons, brick-layers and soft stone-cutters, at Philadelphia, is that the national officers of the unions in these trades shall meet and decide finally on the limitation and jurisdiction of each trade.

POSTPONE FORMING OF NEW GUN CLUB

Trap Shooters Decide to Pick Site on Interurban Line Before Organizing.

About fifteen trap shooting enthusiasts attended the meeting at Blunt & Williams' barbershop on the Corn Exchange last evening, the purpose of the gathering being to organize a new gun club in the city. No steps to the definite formation of the gun devotees were taken, but it was decided to wait until Tuesday evening before organizing. This move was taken because all those who are interested have been invited by Superintendent Gibson of the R. B. & J. electric road to take a trip over the line between here and Beloit to look for a site, it being generally agreed among the prospective members to pick a range at some point on the line of the company. After this inspection of various places, where the traps could be installed, the site of the range will be determined, the officers of the club chosen and probably a name decided upon. The club will buy an improved and up-to-date black-bird-trap, which throws the clay-birds at unknown angles.

THE NEXT CAMPAIGN.

The issue of the next national campaign will not be political. Unless something unforeseen occurs, to change the trend of events, it will be purely an economic question.

It is evident to the most casual observer that Bryan will be the leader of the democratic party in 1908. He is, a radical advocate of government ownership and public control, and his following will be as large as when he stampeded the party on the free silver heresy.

Governor La Follette and leaders of his class, represent the same radical element in the republican party and an effort will be made to control the next republican national convention in the interests of this class of reforms.

Arrayed against the sentiment and dangerous element in both parties are the conservative men of the country, but whether they are numerically strong enough to control remains to be seen.

The hope of the country, so far as continued prosperity is concerned, is with the republican party and it remains with that party to get with wisdom and discretion.

President Roosevelt is fully alive to the situation and while he has been criticised in some quarters for his attitude towards corporations and railroads, the fact must not be overlooked that public sentiment is with him.

While it is true that public sentiment is not always right, it is also true that it is a mighty factor and can not be ignored. A great many people have come to believe that there is something radically wrong in the license and freedom granted to corporations and the belief is growing that in some way the government should control, if not own, all public utilities and supervise many private enterprises.

The objections offered, which seem valid, fail to convince the masses, and as a matter of policy it may be necessary to make some concessions. Secretary Taft, in speaking at a banquet in Washington the other night, was emphatic in the statement that the Interstate Commerce Commission should be given power to fix railroad rates.

The railroad men present objected, but the fact remains that Mr. Taft voiced a sentiment which is just now popular. It remains for the republican party to make the best of a bad situation. If a national platform ignores these questions which are just now absorbing the public mind, many members of the party will flock to Bryan's standard as they did a few years ago.

The nation has never been confronted with similar conditions and the republican party is asked to assume responsibilities which are new and peculiar. The party has heretofore been equal to emergencies and it can be trusted in the present crisis.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA.

It is estimated that France has loaned to Russia, in round numbers, $2,000,000,000. Much of this money has been furnished for carrying on the war in which the nation is now engaged and the French nation has reached a point where it is seriously considering the question of whether or not to furnish any more money.

A recent writer in the Review of Reviews thus speaks of the infatuation which seems to have influenced France thus far:

"For Russia! For Russia! Always for Russia. There is a war of madness,—France furnishes the money. Russia loses her fleet, and then is defeated in a number of great battles; the stupidity of her generals and the shameful corruption of her administration is known to the whole world,—France furnishes the money. The world begins to lose all hope in the final result of this terrible disaster,—still France furnishes the money. An internal revolution breaks out; the Russian government finds itself at war with its own laboring classes, with its intellectual, with its noblesse; political assassinations portend the overturn of the empire and the triumph of revolution; bombs bursting on all sides make known in dark, sinister tones the break-up of the Russian Empire,—and France still furnishes the money."

Aside from this heavy obligation to France, Russia owes as much more, and the nation is so hopelessly in debt that it is practically bankrupt.

It has long been apparent that a declaration of peace is only waiting for a favorable opportunity to let go.

Russia is in no condition to prolong the war. The nation is not only destitute of money but is also weakened by internal strife to the verge of revolution.

Japan on the other hand is able to borrow in any of the great money markets of the world, and the nation is a patriotic unit on all questions which have to do with public welfare.

If the medical bills now before the assembly become laws, no doctor will be permitted to advertise. That will be a little rough on the physician who likes to have it known that he handled the knife when Jones had his leg amputated, but the code of ethics must be preserved.

The medical bills are in the interests of class legislation and yet many assemblymen will vote for them because they claim that the doctors are entitled to protection and that public morals will improve under a medical censorship. Both thin arguments.

Captain Norcross was all right on the medical bills until some doctor got his ear and hypnotized him into the belief that the doctors knew more about what was fit to publish than the newspaper men.

Bryan and La Follette speak on the same platform in Nebraska July 4th. They would find it but little trouble in occupying the same political platform.

The next governor of Wisconsin will be James Davidson, unless the administration manages to slip a cog on the rate commission bill.

Freak legislation seems to be the order of the day at Madison, just now. It will be a relief to everybody when the lawmakers adjourn sine die.

What's the difference between Carnegie's money and Rockefeller's. One smacks of oil, the other of water. Both are good.

If the people are permitted to decide the question of a new capitol, they will decide to repair the old building.

The president was permitted to pass through Chicago without annoyance as the strikers took a day off.

Shall a man be permitted to conduct his own business, is the problem now being fought out in Chicago.

Three hundred and sixty-four thousand children are attending school in the Philippine Islands.

Mayor Dunne is a bit lonesome as a self-appointed strike arbitrator.

With two play houses in full blast Janesville ought to be happy.

The Russian fleet had not been captured at last reports.

PRESS COMMENT.

Oshkosh Northwestern: If the present month would only show a tendency to warm up a bit some of the people would be willing to spell it Mae.

Sheboygan Journal: The Lake Shore Baseball League opened its season in Sheboygan Sunday, with Manitowish listening to the sad sea waves at 6.

Chicago Record-Herald: It is doubtful if severe disappointment to Bigamie Hoch that he has to be tried when other things are claiming the public's attention.

Waukesha Freeman: And thus The Chicago Tribune goes into ecstasies over the birthday announcement of Chauncey Depew: "He is 72! Who? Who? Chauncey Depew. Hurroo! Hurroo!"

Exchange: Governor La Follette is going to Nebraska to deliver a Fourth of July oration. What's the matter—has the governor gone back on the people of his own state?

Green Bay Gazette: And Milwaukee looks on with complacency while Chicago struggles with her teamsters' strike. Much of the business that Chicago now cannot do is drifting to Milwaukee and some of it is liable to stick.

Fond du Lac Bulletin: The exemptions demanded by Bankrupt Blagow make a poor man rich and even a casual reading of the exemption laws shows that he has considerable foundation for his claim.

El Paso Herald: A French professor announces "a new use for radium." He discovers that the venom of snakes exposed to radium emanations for 50 to 60 hours loses all its power. So all you have to do is to catch your rattlesnake a couple of days before he bites you and sprinkle his head with radium.

Madison Journal: The Janesville boy who is filling up the neighbors with warm atmosphere as to his Nevada gold holdings has a lesson or two to learn. The difference between "being interested" in mining properties and figuring as one of the largest taxpayers is usually a long life, infinite toil and a varied experience. People who are actually worth $200,000 keep it to themselves.

Madison Democrat: Marinette, like Madison, has its summer assembly, its local Chautauqua, its fortnight of camp life and joyous period of healthful outing for the thousands round about. This year the encampment opens July 12, and the Eagle-Star devoted an entire page in a recent issue to an excellent, illustrated description of the event. An address by Governor La Follette is one of the notable features of a program that is full of promise.

Louisville Courier-Journal: In a recent address Dr. Emil Hirsch paid a tribute to "the man who makes us laugh." No one more deserves the gratitude of humanity than such a man. The great destroyer of the human race is worry. The great enemy of worry is laughter. You can not worry and laugh and laugh at the same time. The "man who makes us laugh" does his part in relieving life of its pains and lengthening its span. He delays old age by prolonging youth. He makes the poor forget for the time that they are in need and while they laugh they are as well off as the rich.

Milwaukee Sentinel: So comparatively few foolish sayings have been reported of late as emanating from the University of Chicago that there seemed to be good ground for the hope that President Harper had weeded his faculty to some purpose. But now comes the Chicago Evening Post, a trustworthy newspaper written and made for intelligent readers, with the statement that Prof. Maxin Ingres has been editing his class in French literature with the following sapient observation: "The Police Gazette is the typical American newspaper; it caters to the sensational, and the public of America demands the sensational. All American newspapers are conducted on the same plan. This is not so in France, where such a publication as the one I have mentioned would not be permitted." If Prof. Ingres is accurately quoted he either told an absolute falsehood, or else he is grossly ignorant of the subject he presumed to dogmatize on. The statement that all American newspapers are modeled on the vile and putrid Police Gazette is too puerile and absurd for serious denial, and it is furthermore an insulting reflection on the American public, men and women, who create the demand that the daily press supplies. If Prof. Ingres will stop his apparently regular perusal of the Police Gazette and the local yellow journal that resembles it, and take to reading decent and dignified American newspapers, of which there is no lack, he will find ample reason to revise the silly and indecent statement quoted above.

METHODISTS DECLINE TO CONFIRM MITCHELL

Professor's Writings Are Considered Entirely Too Radical to Entitle Him to University Chair.

Boston, Mass., May 12.—At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Boston university to hear the report of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church in relation to the confirmation of Prof. Hinkley G. Mitchell to his professorship at the Boston university school of theology it was decided not to confirm him at present.

President Edward H. Dunn of the trustees presided and ex-Gov. John L. Bates, vice-president of the board, was present. Bishop Daniel A. Goodsell, resident bishop, delivered the finding of the bishops, which was made at their annual meeting in Louisville.

Prof. Mitchell has been attacked for what has been called his heretical doctrines and on several previous occasions has had narrow escapes from condemnation by the board of bishops. He is widely known as a writer and higher critic, and his writings, being perfectly fearless and emphasizing his views with indifference to the consequences, have caused him to be known as an extremely radical thinker.

His text-books are eliminated in all Methodist denominational schools and it is from these that his critics have gained most of their material for their attacks upon his doctrines.

REIFENBERG CASE ON TRIAL TODAY

Big Gallery of Spectators Watching the Progress of the Action in Municipal Court.

In municipal court this morning, before a jury composed of C. C. McLean, Alexander Macgregor, William Hughes, Frank Pierson, P. S. Peterson, and John Fulton, was commenced the trial of Hal Reifenberg, charged with assault and battery on the person of Mrs. Mary Neimer, mother-in-law of Albie Razook. Three generations of a single family of Syrians, all unable to understand and speak the English language, were placed upon the stand and the questions put to them through the medium of Mrs. Jobe, who acted as interpreter. James Schwerry, the grandson who was the first factor in the trouble, testified that when he came upon Mr. Reifenberg busy with his shovel, the latter said something to him and he thought he was asking a question. The words, "Get out of here!" he couldn't understand, though he admitted that he had attended school for several months. Then Zuleima, his sixteen-year-old sister, testified that she saw Reifenberg hitting her brother and called out and tried to pull the boy away and was struck in the face; and that finally the grandmother came out and tried to pull the boy away and was struck a blow on the eye which felled her to the ground. All these warlike maneuvers are represented as having occurred in the vicinity of 105 Caroline street on the 9th of April.

Mrs. Schwerry, the mother of the children and daughter of Mrs. Neimer, next took the stand. She testified that she went out to rescue her son and that Reifenberg, with a shovel in one hand, struck her in the mouth with the other. She denied that she struck Reifenberg or spit in his face. Witness reiterated the testimony of her children regarding the grandmother. Mrs. Mary Neimer, aged 73, followed her on the stand. She said that she saw the blood on her daughter's face and went out to stop the conflict and talked to Reifenberg in Syrian, telling him that he ought to be ashamed of striking a woman. At that time she alleged the boy was on the ground and Reifenberg was standing over him. When she tried to interfere she testified that the man struck her over the left eye and that she was dizzy for quite a time. The marks of a blow were visible above the eye in question. Mrs. Neimer said that she spat but not in Reifenberg's face.

In introducing his case, Atty. Marshall P. Richardson endeavored to introduce an article appearing in the Gazette of Wednesday to show that his client had been misrepresented and wronged. He was permitted to outline the contents but not to give them verbatim. T. S. Nolan and Charles Reeder represent the defense.

The defense put on its witnesses this afternoon. LeRoy Kennedy, son of Mrs. Rhodée Kennedy who resides at 107 Caroline street, related circumstances widely at variance with the testimony of the prosecution. He said that when Reifenberg told the boy to get off the premises, the latter struck at him and that when after seizing the youth, he let go of him, the latter ran back of the house and secured a board with which, on his return, he endeavored to strike Reifenberg's head. When the defendant again seized the boy his mother came out and kicked him three times.

When Reifenberg let go of the boy to protect himself from his new assailant, according to the witness, the boy looked around for a stone and failing to find one went back after the shovel and returning with it tried to bring it down on defendant's head, the latter dodging and receiving the blow on the shoulder. At this time the war was on in the street. The old lady, Mrs. Neimer, picked up a stone and threw it at Reifenberg, threw dirt in his face, spat on him, and was just attempting to strike him in the face, according to the witness, when in raising his arm to guard himself he struck her above the eye. Witness said that old lady neither laid down, nor moaned, nor showed any signs of distress until Marshall Comstock arrived on the scene. The little sixteen-year old girl who had testified this morning, he said, did not reach the scene until fifteen minutes after the smoke of battle had cleared.

FOR THE COMMON SCHOOL DIPLOMAS

Examinations are in Progress in a Number of Towns in the County Today.

Examinations for common school diplomas are being held at Janesville, Fulton, Evansville, Orfordville, Hanover, District No. 5, Newark, and Footville. They will continue through today and tomorrow. All the pupils from the first superintendent district of the county who wish to try for a diploma report at some one of the seven places, where they are given an oral and written examination in the common school branches. The questions are sent out by the county superintendent. The papers are then sent to a committee of disinterested teachers to be marked. Those pupils who receive an average of 75 per cent, and a minimum of 60 per cent, will be granted diplomas. These diplomas entitle them to have their tuition at some high school in the state paid by the town in which they live. About 125 have expressed a desire to take the examination. No reports have been received from the examiners, so it is not known whether that number have reported or not, but it is probable that a large proportion of them have done so. A ruling was made last year which permits pupils to take part of the examinations this year and part the next, giving them two years to do the work, but requiring a higher standing.

KICKERS' KOLUM

Alderman Jackman introduced an order at the last meeting of the council, to have Milwaukee street paved with brick to the top of the hill. Everyone interested in good streets, especially people that do considerable driving, bicycle riders and those owning automobiles, ought to give that order a boost.

After every heavy rain the roadbed washes out, and has to be repaired at the expense of the Ward funds. Why should not the property owners along the street do their own paving as well as property owners on streets in other parts of the city? Pave it with brick, which would last for years to come and make one continual good street from Academy to the end of Milton avenue.

GOOD STREETS.

To the Editor: I understand the common council has given the policemen permission to purchase grey helmets instead of white ones. Is this so? If so, can you explain why they did so after making such a stand for the white helmets two weeks ago? Personally I think grey helmets much more serviceable, but why change their minds?

"AMERICUS VESPUSIUS."

To the Editor: Is there anything definite being done to bring the Forepaugh-Sells circus here for winter quarters? I saw by a Milwaukee paper the location had not been decided. Such a project would mean more to Janesville than any small factory would.

"SAV DUST."

OLE PAULSON VERY SUDDENLY SUMMONED

Laid Down to Take a Rest and Expired
a Few Moments Later—Lived
Here Many Years.

Feeling unwell, but dressed and ready to depart from his home for the business district of the city, this morning, Ole Paulson laid down on a couch for a brief rest and expired very peacefully a few moments later. He had been troubled for the past month with a bronchial complaint and this morning though he was feeling a little worse intended to go about his regular work. He was induced by the members of the family to rest awhile before going downtown and if not feeling improved to remain at home. He had been resting but a short time when he passed silently from his body. Mr. Paulson was born in Norway, September 26, 1832, and came to America in 1858, arriving in Janesville a few months later. Since then he has made this city his home and resided at 65 Pearl street. He was for many years engaged in tailoring and was known as one of Janesville's worthy citizens. His demise occurred about half-past eight, this morning and he leaves to mourn his loss a wife and three daughters, two of Chicago. The announcement of the funeral services will be made later.

Rain Helped Albion.

The Milton High school team played the return game with Albion Academy here Tuesday afternoon. Despite the fact that the weather was cold enough to make overcoats a necessity the lights put up a fine article of ball for the first five innings, not a single Albionite making a hit or securing first base. At the beginning of the sixth it began to rain and neither Chancy could not handle the ball. McEwan went in the box in the eighth but had the same difficulty in control. The visitors scored twice on Chancy and twice on McEwan, the final score being five to four in favor of Milton. Albion averaged much heavier than the home team, but are inferior in the field.

MRS. ORSON COX, PIONEER AND RESPECTED RESIDENT OF FULTON, PASSES AWAY

Came From Home in New York to Wisconsin Sixty-One Years Ago.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Edgerton, May 12.—Through the hand of death sorrow entered the home of Henry Cox in the town of Fulton and took therefrom his mother, Mrs. Orson Cox, who made her home with him. Laura Allen was born in September, 1827, in St. Lawrence county, New York, and passed away Monday evening, May 8, 1905, at 8:30 o'clock. Sixty-one years ago she came to Wisconsin and two years later, in 1846, she became the wife of Orson Cox, a well-known farmer of that place. Three children blessed the union, one of which, a daughter, died in 1901. Two twin sons, William, who runs a general store at Indian Ford, and Henry, who occupies the home farm, survive her. Mr. Cox was called home above in 1894. Besides her two sons and their families, Mrs. Cox leaves a sister, Mrs. James Quinn of Lime Springs, Iowa, and a brother, Albert Allen of Dalton, Wis., the latter two being the only survivors out of a family of thirteen children. Mrs. Cox was of kindly disposition, a faithful neighbor, loyal wife and loving mother. Many friends and neighbors besides the relatives mourn her loss. The funeral was held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the farm home, Rev. L. A. Parr of the Edgerton Congregational church, conducting the service.

Mothers Are Helped THEIR HEALTH RESTORED

Happiness of Thousands of Homes Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's Advice.

A devoted mother seems to listen to every call of duty excepting the supreme one that tells her to guard her health, and before she realizes it some derangement of the female organs has manifested itself, and nervousness and irritability take the place of happiness and amiability.

Mrs. Ph. Hoffman

Tired, nervous and irritable, the mother is unfit to care for her children, and her condition ruins the child's disposition and reacts upon herself.

The mother should not be blamed, as she no doubt is suffering with backache, headache, bearing-down pains or displacement, making life a burden.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing cure for this condition. It strengthens the female organs and permanently cures all displacements and irregularities.

Such testimony as the following should convince women of its value:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I suffered for eight years with ovarian troubles. I was nervous, tired and irritable, and it did not seem as though I could stand it any longer, as I had five children to care for. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and it has entirely cured me. I cannot thank you enough for your letter of advice and for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me.—Mrs. Ph. Hoffman, 100 Harvard Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

68 Years Old, Took "Seven Barks" Feels Like A Different Man—No Kidney Trouble Now.

The following is a letter we received on June 27, 1904, from Conrad Slagle, of Burdett, Wis. "It is with great pleasure that I can now tell you that your Seven Barks have done for me. For a long time I was in a bad fix with my back and kidneys and other troubles, and tried many doctors and various medicines, but got no relief. Since I have been taking your Seven Barks I feel like a different man. In six or eight years old and can say that I have never gained anything that has done so much good in so short a time as your Seven Barks."

It's much harder to cure kidney trouble in old age and of long standing than in youth. As a man ages, his bones lose their suppleness—you who suffer with aching back know the effects of weak kidneys—you know, too, the sharp, darting pains that seem as if they would tear you to pieces. This man, like you, was in a bad fix, but Seven Barks got him out of it, and it didn't take long either. Which had you rather do, suffer with kidney trouble or deposit 50 cents with us for a full-sized bottle of Seven Barks—the money to be refunded if Seven Barks doesn't cure? We don't know of a better remedy, and "finding one" is our business.

The Witch of Cragenstone

By ANITA CLAY MUNOZ.

Author of "In Love and Truth"

Copyright, 1935, by Anita Clay Munoz

The turbulent crowd surged nearer, and one woman, more excited than the others, sprang at Margaret, making a snatch at the cross as though to tear it off. In a second the handle of Josiah Taunton's riding whip fell on her shoulder heavily.

"Fool!" he said under his breath, directing a dark look at her. "Wouldst thou destroy the evidence?"

The woman, greatly abashed, fell back among the crowd.

The mistress of Mayland farm, with flashing eyes, put her hand over the cross protectively, and she pushed her old nurse from her with firm determination, saying: "Elisbeth, thy words do fill my heart with shame. A Mayland asked to do the bidding of those village churls? Margaret Mayland to wear by that to wear and what not to wear by those ignorant, prejudiced people? I have done no wrong. My cross contains no evil!"

As a full sense of the wrongful injustice from which she was suffering swept over her Margaret turned upon the crowd of accusers again, this time more furiously.

"This cross I wear, no man can touch it while I live!" she cried. "And as ye have thought it so to brand me as a witch and bring soldiers here to arrest me, I do defy ye and do warn ye not to lay hands on me until ye have first notified my affianced husband, Sir Godfrey La Fabienne, of thine intention!"

Jeers, ejaculations of derision and contempt, also loud, scornful laughter, followed Margaret's words.

"Sir Godfrey La Fabienne!" shrieked one woman shrilly. "Ha, ha! She doth command us to notify her white-livered lover! Ho, ho!"

With a proud, hopeless gesture of her head the accused woman turned from the crowd of sneering, sinister faces before her and, addressing the captain of the guard, who stood close at her side, said entreatingly, "Good captain, wilt thou not send notice of this outrage to my friend, Sir Godfrey La Fabienne, who for some good reason has been detained at powder tavern by the mill stream, the Sign of the Red Heart?"

"One moment, mistress."

The man stepped down and, going to Josiah Taunton, appeared to be consulting him, the concourse of people, now grown silent, watching with bated breath. Suddenly Taunton threw up his head and let forth a harsh, unmitigated shout of laughter.

"Whither went he?"

"I know not, mistress."

"Rise, stupid," she commanded, with quick impatience, "and speak the message that Sir Godfrey left for me. What good reason for his going have he, and what tender words of counsel left he for me?"

The fellow rose, but did not meet her glance. He stood with bowed head, shifting his feet nervously.

"Blockhead, wilt never speak?" Margaret shook his arm angrily.

"Good Mistress Mayland," the man stammered, "I-I have but one word for thee from my master!"

"And that is?" she interrupted almost wildly in her desperation.

"Pardon."

Margaret fell back as if she had received a blow in the face, and the listening crowd closed in around them, with glowing looks and taunting words, wild with triumphant excitement.

The captain laid his hand on her arm determinedly, but she threw him off and, clinging to Gaston, besought him to tell her more.

"Kind mistress," he said, "last night at about an hour after midnight, when I was sleeping heavily on a pile of straw in the stable, I felt some one touching me gently and, springing up in surprise, found my master bending over me. As I attempted to speak he put his hand over my mouth and whispered these words:

"Gaston, positive news hath reached me that at the rising of the sun I and Mistress Mayland are to be taken into custody by the soldiers who arrived here tonight and thrown into prison. As all the passes are strongly guarded we cannot escape by—"

"At that instant the man sleeping at my side awakened and raised on his elbow. My master, hardly daring to breathe, crouched lower in the shadow, so that he was unperceived."

"Much more would I say," he whispered, "but I cannot take the risk. Tell Mistress Mayland farewell and—"

"Just then another fellow stirred, and, rousing his companion, the men exchanged words, listening. Breathless we waited until the soldiers were breathing regularly again. Then my lord, giving my hand a strong pressure, took the first safe chance and slipped noiselessly through the doorway."

"Swear what thou sayest is the truth!" Margaret cried, now standing erect before him, a deathlike pallor on her countenance.

"By the sacred memory of my mother's love I swear it!" Gaston said solemnly.

The proud head of the mistress of the Mayland farm, its covering of yellow hair gleaming in the sunlight, fell forward on her breast. The captain to hide his emotion gave a loud order, and the soldiers, with noise of clanking swords, closed in around her.

Margaret looked about her in a dazed manner.

"There is no need of force," she said dully. "I will go with thee."

The noise from the clamoring, shouting mass of people was almost deafening as the officer, leading Margaret, backed and the long skirts of her riding habit trailing after her on the ground, started toward the roadway.

"To the jail! To the jail!" they cried frantically.

"The witch doth hang her head in shame of her evil deeds," said one woman, running along with a child in her arms.

"Nay," cried another. "Tis with sorrow that her petticoat lover hath deserted her. Such kind know no shame!"

At the gateway the captain called a halt, as he wished to consult Josiah Taunton on some matter pertaining to his orders, and Elisabeth, who had been running after them in fearful agony, wringing her hands and screaming shrilly, fell at Margaret's feet and threw her arms about her in hopeless abandon.

"Oh, sweet babe, bonny Margaret," she moaned, "they are taking thee to prison, where I shall never see thee more! Can I be done to save thee? Ah, lackaday, God's mercy on us all! They'll kill thee and no help comes."

"Grieve not, Elisabeth," Margaret answered gently, "grieve not for one who hath received her death wound. Can they kill that which is already dead? Nay, good Elisabeth, after the news brought by Gaston that Godfrey—here a dry sob rose in her throat—"that Godfrey, whom I love, hath abandoned me to the insults of these people, no abuse they can heap upon me to cause me suffering will be felt by me. Mourning for one stabled so sharply through the heart that all the young, joyous life in her hath been killed by one deep thrust. Dry thy tears, dear mother."

The captain approaching at this juncture, the procession started through the gateway and down the road, where it soon disappeared, and the only sign of human life left on the Mayland estate was the form of old Elisabeth lying prostrate on the ground.

DISPUTE IS SETTLED AT LAST

Indiana Sheriff Must Be Paid for Boarding City Prisoners.

Kokomo, Ind., May 12.—The conflict of long standing between the county and city officials as to the relative liability of the corporations for the board of prisoners, which at one time reached so acute a stage that the county sheriff threatened to deny admission of prisoners arrested by the city police, has been settled by a decision of the Indiana appellate court, the result of which will be the payment of several hundred dollars to sheriffs now out of office, particularly to N. S. Stanbro and L. W. Harness. The cities of Indiana will now be liable for the board of prisoners whose county jails are used, even though arrested for violation of state law, until committed for the crime of which they are found guilty.

By agreement he pleaded guilty, and was sentenced for life, the unexpected proceeding occupying only a few minutes time. The explanation was that a strong defense might be made showing he used cocaine. On his departure for prison Roach said he is going to read law and that as soon as the drug is out of his system steps will be taken for his release on parole.

Was in Torture all the Time.

Had Pains in His Back.

Dr. Fenner, Fredonia, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—Some six months ago a friend recommended to me your justly celebrated Kidney and Backache Cure. I was at that time suffering intensely from pains in my back.

My work daily aggravated the complaint and I was in torture all the time. After taking two bottles of your medicine I was relieved and two more completely cured me. I feel like a new man now, thanks to your Remedy, and unhesitatingly recommend it to those suffering as I was.

Sincerely yours,

Howard Sproule,

787 Agate St., St. Paul, Minn.
